

From: Chris Zubrzycki
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 12/10/01 10:30am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

The proposed Microsoft settlement, in my opinion as a consumer and voting american, stinks. I use many platforms, being a student at Drexel University, and Windows is the worst. It is buggy, slow, and near impossible to keep from crashing. The only way Microsoft is able to make products such as this is because the public sees them as the only option because it runs on Intel hardware. In their settlement Microsoft is saying "Ok, Ok, we were bad. Just give us access to schools where we can install our software and brainwash the school children with our products. We normally charge $850 million for it, even though it costs us $1 million actually, but it is worth $850 million, really..it is...."

Ok. do you use windows? how often does your computer crash? twice a day? Guess what? Mine do not. At all. I run Mac OS X and linux.

Please don't let Microsoft get away with this.

-chris zubrzycki

=====

"Twice blessed is help unlooked for." --Tolkien